A personal invitation to Environment Industry Day at Queen's Park: October 25, 2016

In partnership with the Ontario Environment Industry Association (ONEIA), we are pleased to extend a personal invitation for you to join us for the 16th annual Environment Industry Day at Queen's Park.

Are you a professional working for an environment or cleantech company? Would you like to grow your network, learn more about government policy and meet senior people from across the sector and government? Then join us for the Ontario Environment Industry Association's (ONEIA) annual Environment Industry Day at the Ontario Legislature on October 25, 2016.

Ontario environment and cleantech firms are significant job creators. What can we do to make growth - and job creation - easier for our companies? What have successful firms done to grow in the best possible way - and is there a role for government to help in this area?

These questions and more will be discussed on October 25, when representatives from Ontario's growing environment and cleantech sector will gather for a day that will include:

- Meetings between small teams of company representatives (carefully selected from the ONEIA membership) and key MPPs and policymakers at Queen's Park
- An afternoon panel where some of Ontario's leading policy and business thinkers will discuss the environmental and policy challenges facing the province; and,
- An evening reception in the Legislative Dining Room, co-hosted with Ontario Minister of Environment and Climate Change, The Hon. Glen Murray.

Registration and more information is available on the registration page.

We hope to see you there!

This information is being sent by the Canadian Brownfields Network (CBN) on behalf of CBN and the Ontario Environment Industry Association (ONEIA) as we thought it may be of interest to you.
